Strategic Leadership Development Certificate Program

Leaders are those that transcend their job title and seize opportunities for success. The Strategic Leadership Development Certificate Program is focused on leadership skills essential to being an effective executive, manager, supervisor, or team member. This program begins by exploring the principles of leadership, and how they are different from management skills, and continues by addressing the essential skills of creating a strategic vision, influencing others, leading others, and delivering results.

About the On-Demand Format

Flexibility in how you learn

Achievement is measured by the quality of work completed on projects vs. hours in a classroom. Customize your learning based on your knowledge and experience – you can learn new leadership skills or earn credit for demonstrating leadership skills already acquired; and choose to learn with situations from your own work history or the case study provided.

Flexibility in when and how quickly you want to learn

Start courses as soon as you enroll. You will have 90 days to complete each course, and may take as many as you want concurrently.

Student-determined level of interaction

Learning resources curated by a subject matter expert, online office hours with a mentor, and online discussion forums with other students are available to use at your discretion.

Cohesive course of study

The leadership topics assembled, resources curated and mentorship offered provide you with the leadership skills needed to be an effective executive, manager, supervisor or team member.

Who Should Attend

This program is targeted to professionals who want to become effective leaders and change agents in their organizations through essential leadership competencies.
