Experience Montreux Switzerland through jazz, food, and wine while staying at the Glion Institute of Higher Education (GIHE) for four nights in July. GIHE is one of Europe’s leading schools in international business and hotel management, located in the foothills of the Alps overlooking Lake Geneva, just above Montreux. We will keep you busy with academic and cultural activities during the three full days of your stay.

Attend a concert at the Montreux Jazz Festival.

Add to your culinary skills.

Add to your culinary skills in two ways: learn some of the science behind cooking and then learn to make French pastry. Dr. Michael Bialecki, UCI lecturer in Developmental and Cell Biology, will give a lecture/demonstration on the ‘Biology and Chemistry of Food and Cooking’ – a short version of a popular course at UC Irvine (with no papers or exams!) and then one of the GIHE chef/instructors will show you, in the demonstration kitchen, how to keep guests returning for your hospitality.

Visit a Swiss Vineyard.

Wine has been made in this region of Switzerland since the days of the Romans. Visitors are astonished to find excellent wines that are not available at home because they are never exported. Explore the art of production from grape to bottle on a visit to a local vineyard.

The program includes four nights in double rooms with en suite bathrooms and cooking facilities, all meals, four class sessions, concert tickets and a visit to a winery including transportation. Space is limited. The fee is US$1,100 per person based on double occupancy. (airfare not included).
